My daughter has improved in all of her subjects, reading and writing in the last few months. I can really see a difference, thank you.</li> <li>• The school gives you the opportunity to help your child at home with homework and lets you know what they are doing in class. They always try to involve you.</li> <li>• You are supporting my child with his difficulties and barriers. You are respecting him and giving him a helpful hand. Thank you</li> <li>• A school which improves itself and moves with the requirements of its pupils. Always open to parents' comments and concerns.</li> </ul>
16	Comments around improvement <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• I need some information which level (writing, reading...) my child reached, eg L3A or L4B. Now I have general information, this is good, this is worst, but no specific. I don't know where I direct my attention. Good solution would be a terms letter about levels.</li> <li>• Overall I feel the school performs really well. The areas I feel the school could improve are acknowledging the children's achievements. Also after school activities could be more varied.</li> <li>• More variety, and help working parents, as appose to only have set places, so after school clubs on most days.</li> <li>• It would be better if stars could stay for dinner on their full day.</li> </ul>
